

THE SOUTHEAST ASIAN JOURNAL OF TROPICAL MEDICINE AND PUBLIC HEALTH

Volume 25

June 1994

Number 2

CONTENTS

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Page |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| Editorial : Population growth and public health .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 229  |
| Review : Strain complex of Schistosoma japonicum in the mainland of China.......... YX He, YQ Hu, QF Yu, CH Ni, HC Xue, LS Qiu, M Xie                                                                                                                                                           | 232  |
| Comparative nucleotide and deduced amino acid sequence of the envelope glycoprotein gene among three dengue virus type 2 strains isolated from patients with different disease severities in Maha Sarakham, Northeast Thailand.......... S Duangchanda, M Tanaka, K Morita, S Rojanasuphot, A Igarishi | 243  |
| Effects of human $\alpha$ , $\beta$ and $\gamma$ interferons on varicella zoster virus in vitro ..... K Balachandra,D Thawaranantha, P Isarangkul Na Ayuthaya, J Bhumisawasd, K Shiraki, K Yamanishi                                                                                            | 252  |
| Detection and serotyping of dengue viruses by PCR : a simple, rapid method for the isolation of viral RNA from infected mosquito larvae ..... SY Chan, I Kautner, SK Lam                                                                                                                                   | 258  |
| Comparative sensitivity of laboratory methods to diagnose dengue virus infections at Husada Hospital, Jakarta..... R Tan, H Kurniawan, S Hartati, S Widjaja, GB Jennings                                                                                                                                   | 262  |
| A simplified and highly sensitive detection of Trypanosoma evansi by DNA amplification..... N Wuyts, N Chokesajjawatee, S Panyim                                                                                                                                                                    | 266  |
| Depressed specific and nonspecific immune responses in the secondary Brugia pahangi infection of jirds ..... M Owhahsi, Y Horii, Y Nawa                                                                                                                                                             | 272  |
| In vitro cultivation of third stage larvae of Wuchereria bancrofti to fourth stage : influence of some physico-chemical factors ..... SL Hoti, A Martial-Gros, KP Paily, AM Manonmani, K Athisaya Mary, K Balaraman                                                                          | 278  |
| The natural first intermediate host of Paragonimus siamensis (Miyazaki and Wykoff, 1965) in Thailand ..... S Yaemput, P Dekumyoy, K Visiassuk                                                                                                                                                       | 284  |
| Epidemiologic characteristics of clonorchiasis sinensis in Guangdong Province, China..... YY Fang                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 291  |
| The prevalence and intensity of soil-transmitted helminths in some rural villages in Northern Peninsular Malaysia..... WA Rahman                                                                                                                                                                           | 296  |
| Statistical analysis of clinical, immunological and nutritional factors in pediatric cryptosporidiosis in the Philippines..... DM Menorca, MA Laxer, AK Alcantara, M Javato-Laxer, MT Fernando, V Gonzales                                                                                                 | 300  |
| A clinical study on trichinosis in Changwat Phayao, Thailand ..... S Limsuwan, V Siriprasert                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 305  |
| Spontaneous granulomatous amebic encephalitis : report of four cases from Thailand ..... T Sangruchi, AJ Martinez, GS Visvesvara                                                                                                                                                                           | 309  |
| Research report: An outbreak of gastroenteritis due to Vibrio cholerae 0139 in Pondicherry, South India ..... N Vijayalakshmi, RS Rao, S Sujatha, A Hamid, TK Dutta, AK Das                                                                                                                         | 314  |
| Reliability of two commercial serological kits for serodiagnosing Helicobacter pylori infection ..... AM Uyub, A Khairul Anuar, S Aiyar                                                                                                                                                             | 316  |

|                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                      |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Reactivity of the CD D-1 latex test with Clostridium difficile and other bacteria.....                                                                                                | S Wongwanich, M Kusum, R Phan-Urai                                                                                                                   | 321 |
| Detectiion of salmonellae in hen eggs in Thailand .....                                                                                                                                      | K Saitanu, C Koowatananukul, J Jerngklinchan, J Sasipreeyajan                                                                                        | 324 |
| Incidence of salmonellae in duck eggs in Thailand .....                                                                                                                                      | K Saitanu, J Jerngklinchan, C Koowatananukul                                                                                                         | 328 |
| Nosocomial pneumonias in Thailand .....                                                                                                                                                      | S Saenghirunvattana, P Charoenpan, S Kiatboonsri, B Aeursudkij                                                                                       | 332 |
| Nocturnal physiological and biochemical changes in Sudden unexplained death Syndrome : A preliminary report of a case control study .                                                        | P Charoenpan, K Muntarbhorn, P Boongird, G Puavilai, R Ratanaprakarn, S Indraprasit, V Tanphaichitr, K Likittanasombat, W Varavithya, P Tatsanavivat | 335 |
| Spirometric volumes in Malaysian males .....                                                                                                                                                 | R Singh, HJ Singh, RG Sirisinghe                                                                                                                     | 341 |
| The efficacy of compression immobilization technique in retarding spread of radio-labeled Rusell's viper venom in rhesus monkeys and mock venom NaI <sup>131</sup> in human volunteers ..... | Tune-Pe, Muang-Muang-Thwin, Myint-Myint-Than, Aye-Aye-Myint, Kyaw-Myint, Thein-than                                                                  | 349 |
| Physical fitness in obese school children in Hat Yai, Southern Thailand .....                                                                                                                | S Pongprapai, L Mo-suwan, W Leelasamran                                                                                                              | 354 |
| Factors affecting utilization of health centers in a rural area of Chon Buri Province, Thailand .....                                                                                        | DR Shrestha, A Ittiravivongs                                                                                                                         | 361 |
| Trial of transdermal nicotine patch in smoking cessation .....                                                                                                                               | S Saenghirunvattana                                                                                                                                  | 368 |
| Monitoring resistance gene frequencies in Malaysian Culex quinquefasciatus say adults using rapid non-specific esterase enzyme microassays .....                                      | HL Lee, T Tadano                                                                                                                                     | 371 |
| Use of hexaflumuron, an insect growth regulator in the control of Aedes albopictus (Skuse) .....                                                                                      | D Montada, AR Rajavel, V Vasuki                                                                                                                      | 374 |
| Studies on the mosquito vectors of Japanese encephalitis virus in Mandya district, Karnataka, India .....                                                                                    | G Geevarghese, AC Mishra, PG Jacob, HR Bhat                                                                                                          | 378 |
| Studies on adult mosquito vectors of Japanese encephalitis in a pig farm in Selangor, Malaysia .....                                                                                         | I Vythilingam, S Mahadevan, MZ Zaridah, KK Ong, G Abdullah, YF Ong                                                                                   | 383 |
| Sex ratio and susceptibility of the golden apple snail, Pomacea canaliculata .....                                                                                                    | S Banpavichit, RS Keawjam, ES Upatham                                                                                                                | 387 |
| Research note : Hepatitis A virus antibody in mentally retarded children .....                                                                                                               | Y Poovorawan, S Yodvised, A Theamboonlers, V Prapanpot, S Chumderpadetsuk                                                                            | 392 |
| Research note : Absence of plasmid in mosquitocidal Clostridium bifermentans serovar Malaysia .....                                                                            | P Seleena, HL Lee                                                                                                                                    | 394 |
| Case report : Quinine toxicity when given with doxycycline and mefloquine .....                                                                                                              | J Karbwang, K Na-Bangchang, A Thanavibul, Y Wattanakoon, T Harinasuta                                                                                | 397 |
| Case report : Gastric ascariasis associated with upper gastrointestinal hemorrhage.....                                                                                                      | P Wilairatana, S Wilairatana, P Charoenlarp                                                                                                          | 401 |
| Case report : Fatal diphtheria in a Thai adult ..                                                                                                                                            | V Viriyautsahakul, T Tantawichien, U Thisyakorn                                                                                                      | 402 |
| Case report : Diabetes mellitus, salmonellosis, fatty liver and lipid embolism.....                                                                                                          | S Shuangshoti                                                                                                                                        | 405 |
| Concentration time course of praziquantel in Filipines with mild Schistosoma japonicum infection.....                                                                                 | CI Valencia, BA Catto, LT Webster Jr, E Barcelon, R Ofendo-Reyes                                                                                     | 409 |